'On The Nose' Starts Closing Run Tonight

By LU VONDEREMBIS

The final performances of "On the Nose," the '36 Revelries, will begin tonight and end tomorrow evening when its five-night run will close.

The production, acclaimed as the best of recent years, stars Marion Brugnone and Frank Davidson in the leading roles. Miss Brugnone plays the role of Ann Seddelmeir, a toymaker's lovely daughter just returned from college.

The supporting characters contribute a great deal to the plot's complications and are: Bob Montilla, who plays a hilarious three-act part; Benita Camicia, Bernice Penny; Craig Thush, "Shorty the Shade;" Nancy Stephens, Emma Seddelmeir; Bernie Stephens, Jack Seddelmeir; Grant Salzman, Alex Chase; Dave Schmitt, "Exactly Wright;" Jim Dunn, Earl; Suzy Zingler, Wilson; and Bob Gordon, the robot.

The chorus performs some light, springy numbers that make the show a fine musical. Chorus members include: Dick Thomas, Diana Discher, Lila Gier, Stella Armento, Marlene Tipton, Rose Frink, Karla Linden, Donna Acuff, Connie Maxwell, Cheryl Del Biaggio, Jay Michaels, Harold Hancock, Wayne Abbey, Fred Books, Pete Carnegie, Barbara Taynton and B. J. Tedford. The featured dancers are Ed Tryk, Lynne Brunst and Roberta Boone. Miss Boone also handled all choreography for the show.

The script was written by Jim Dunn, student director and Jim Houston, assistant director. Bob Weiss also helped with the script writing, but had to drop out due to lack of time.

Fourteen original songs were written for the musical by Jim Kason. The songs vary from the loveable "Ode to a French Fried Potato" to romantic selections like "I Know" and "I Think It's Love." Dick Tash and his combo provide music for the production. Tash also handles the arrangements.

Costumes for all cast and chorus members were designed by Dave Schmitt, one of the chorus members. The quaint, modern sets were designed by Julie Boyer, and constructed under the direction of Sherman Blass.

Tickets for the last two performances are still on sale in the Student Affairs Business Office. Price for tickets is 75 cents for students and $1 for general admission.

Shot Series Concludes

The College Health Service will conclude its spring semester series of inoculations by giving typhoid-paratyphoid shots to ticket holders today. Immunizations will be given from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in the Health Office, Room 31.

He is being sponsored by San Jose Youth for Christ, and also will speak in the Civic Auditorium today, tomorrow and Sunday.

SJS Fine Arts Division To Televis Aviation Story

"Your attention, please, ladies and gentlemen. On your right, the world. On your left, the Milky Way!"

This is the opening line of SJS Fine Arts Division's experimental television production of "On Your Left, The Milky Way," to be presented over KNTV, Channel 11, Sunday at 7 p.m.

Easel shots, rare old film clips and special effects then will follow on camera as the production retells the story of aviation.

Robert I. Guy, SJS radio-TV director, is producing and directing the show as the second of three being shown on succeeding Sunday evenings.

Dr. Dorothy Kaucher's book "On Your Left, The Milky Way" is being dramatized in this presentation. Adaptation was by Olive Engwicht, a graduate student.

Settings were made by students in stage design working under J. Wendell Johnson. Costuming is being done by students of Miss Bernice Prisk. Guy, Johnson, Miss Prisk and Dr. Kaucher are on the Speech and Drama Department staff.

The part of Dorothy as a small girl is played by AlexSan McCallum, a student at Edwin Markham Junior High School. She is the daughter of Dr. G. A. McCallum, of the Natural Science Division staff, and Mrs. McCallum.

Supporting players are John Wulzen, Carol Crisler, Jan Pearson, James Houston, James Dunn, Jay Michels, Stanley Allen and Wallace Landford.

Student Council Approves La Torre's New Editors; 1957 Yearbook Underway

The appointments of Ronald Gilpatrick, editor, Marlene Burget, associate editor, and Larry Fordyce, business manager for La Torre, the college yearbook, were approved by the Student Council. The three new La Torre leaders assume their posts next fall.

Gilpatrick succeeds Stan Painter as editor of the yearbook publication. He is assistant editor in charge of sections for this year's La Torre.

Sophs Must Take Education Tests

General education area tests will be given to second semester sophomores on May 23, according to an announcement by Dr. C. Richard Purdy, curriculum evaluator.

Of 1227 freshman students who were given the tests in the fall of 1954, only 900 are still at San Jose State.

"Because of the small number of students remaining in school that originally took the tests, it is important that all sophomores who receive notification that they are to take the tests be sure to appear on May 23," said Dr. Purdy.

The areas to be tested are Natural Science, Social Science and the Humanities. The data gathered from the tests will be used to evaluate the General Education program, and also to evaluate the experimental Humanities program.

Miss Burget assumed the associate editorship of the 1956 yearbook staff this spring, filling in for the appointed associate editor, who had dropped from school.

Fordyce, a member of the current sales staff of La Torre, will succeed Ray Mason as business manager.

Dr. Leonard Hippen, La Torre adviser, announced that plans are currently underway for next year's centennial edition of the yearbook.

He said that the 1957 yearbook staff will face more responsibility than any other staff, because the centennial edition will include more full color plates and will be the largest yearbook produced here. Financial problems that the business manager will handle promise to be monumental, he said.

Dr. Hippen also advised those wishing to purchase copies of the coming La Torre to pay the full price before they pick them up. Students may pay the total cost of the yearbook, which is $6, or pay a downpayment of $4, with the remainder to be paid sometime before the book is released.

La Torre can be ordered at its sales booth or in the Student Activities Office.

Meetings Guild To Dramatize Kaucher Book on TV

By DIANE CONHEAD

Channing Club will meet Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Fireside Room of the Unitarian Church 160 N. 3rd St.

Institute of Radio Engineers will hold its barbecue and "Ladies' Day" at Club Almaden Saturday at 1 p.m.

International Students Organization will meet today in SD 130 at 12:30 p.m.

Tri Sigma will have a family barbecue at Club Almaden Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m.

Roger Williams Fellowship will meet today at 8 a.m. at 1069 Franquette Ave. for its cabinet breakfast.

On Sunday the SJS Radio and Television Guild will bring to life "On Your Left, The Milky Way," a dramatized documentary treatment of the book of the same title written by Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, professor of speech and drama. The half hour production will be presented over KNTV, Channel 11, at 7 p.m.

The play adaptation recalls the days when men dreamed of flying, but were earthbound. Bleriot, flying his kite-like planes, found their direction by following the "iron compass"—railroad tracks. It brings to light the times when United States Army pilots, carrying the mail, made hazardous flights across country. Looking down over the rim of their open cockpits, they could see wagon wheels dimly traced on the wide lands below where they had followed the Overland Trail.

HISTORY OF FLIGHT

These times in the history of air flight, and the later years, when the Pacific Clippers were flying out of California, all are a part of the television production.

Dr. Kaucher, since the early '30s, has been an enthusiastic air passenger. "Many people seem to think that I was a pilot, which I was not," she said. "You might call what I have done 'Sky Reporting,'" she added. Her other books include "Wings Over Wake," which deals with the early flights of the well-remembered Clipper ships, and "Armchair in the Sky," which tells of a flight up the Amazon River in South America to a city named Manaoes.

"I always have been interested in American pioneering and Wake Island, and these flights seemed to me to be a modern-day form of pioneering," she added. The last few years of flying in the big airliners has seemed "too safe and too routine" to Dr. Kaucher. For that reason she welcomes the advent of the jets. "When I look up these days and see the vapor trails of the jets, I feel that flying has become an individual thing again. I see drama and pageantry, and I have the feeling of a knight venturing forth wearing armor as does the plane itself, getting a small distance closer to the eternal. It strengthens my belief in puny man," Dr. Kaucher exclaimed.

HERE SINCE 1930

The vivacious Dr. Kaucher, who pioneered the SJS Radio Guild, has been with the faculty since 1930. Prior to coming to SJS, she taught as a professor of English at her alma mater, the University of Missouri, and at Wells College in New York state. Upon coming to SJS, she began her work with the Speech and Drama Department, and is now chairman of the oral reading. She also does speech work.

On campus, Dr. Kaucher serves as senior adviser to Black Masque, senior women's honor society. She is a member of the college's Centennial Committee and is a past member of the SJS General Education Committee. Another activity in which she is busily engaged is her work with Phi Mu Sorority, for which she is faculty adviser.

Off campus, Dr. Kaucher is a member of the Penwomen, and an honorary member of the International Quota Club.

Dr. Kaucher received her AB degree and Journalism degree from the University of Missouri, and her doctors degree from Cornell University. She furthered her education even more by studying abroad at the University of Grenoble in France.

ART ABILITY

Dr. Kaucher's abilities lie not only in the field of writing and education, but also in the field of art. In spite of her many talents, Dr. Kaucher says that she chose teaching for her actual vocation because she likes to look ahead and not dwell in the past. "Here I work with youth, and youth is always looking ahead to the future."

Each year the Dr. Dorothy Kaucher Oral Reading Award is made to the outstanding student in this field. This year, for the first time she is presenting another award: the Dr. Dorothy Kaucher Journalism Scholarship, will be given to the outstanding woman in the Journalism Department. "One can never become dull as long as one is surrounded by youth," she commented.

Barbecue Invitation

Dear Thrust and Parry:

There has been a general feeling of surprise among the "Continentalists" that one of the "briefcase, slide-rule at hip" set should take enough time away from "the excellent education" he is getting in engineering to answer our previous letter.

Since the Spartan Daily somehow must have slipped between him and his slide-rule, it is hoped that he can spend a few moments in the "dazzling light of ignorance" to explain what he meant by "playing games at a barbecue."

We are, of course, assuming that he has been to a barbecue before. It is the commonly accepted practice of most normal people to engage in some type of recreation like volleyball, softball, etc. Of course, we are forgetting that his type of recreation is having speed runs with a slide-rule to see who can divide by pi the fastest.

Therefore, if he somehow can find time to come to the barbecue cue this Sunday, which we doubt, we, the "Continentalists," shall have a slide-rule slippers contest for him or his book-worm friends.

Stanley Ready; Faces Whitfield

Spartan Ace Seeks First Win Over Olympic Champ

Lang Stanley will be out to settle an old score with Los Angeles State's Mal Whitfield when the two clash in the halfmile tomorrow night in the California State College Track and Field Meet at Fresno's Ratcliff Stadium.

Trials for the affair will begin at 6:30 o'clock with the finals set for 7:30 o'clock.

Ever since Whitfield nipped Stanley back in 1953, at the Compton Invitational, Stanley has set his sights on victory. The pair have met six times, with Whitfield emerging victorious on all occasions.

However, the tide may have turned. Stanley has the advantage of youth while Whitfield is over the hill after winning two Olympic 800 meter titles.

Lang already has stepped off a 1:48.7 clocking this year compared to 1:50.3 for Whitfield. In fact Whitfield's all-time best is 1:48.6 so if Lang is right it will take a best-ever job from an aging Whitfield for a victory.

However, one important factor may affect the race, and this is Lang's physical condition. Although he is much improved, Lang is still bothered by the same bad cold that kept him out of the West Coast Relays. However, Coach Bud Winter is much more optimistic than he was earlier in the week and believes his ace will be ready.

Stanley is confident he can "get Whitfield this time." He said, "I have a very good chance to win, if I can run my own race and feel right as far as my cold is concerned."

The Spartan star hopes he can break 1:48 and feels that "this is my year." However, Stanley warns, Whitfield is a crafty competitor, who makes it a habit of winning, although his times may not be outstanding.

A three way battle between Fresno, Los Angeles and San Jose looms in the team race, with the Bulldogs tabbed as the team to beat. Fresno should be able to win on first place points, while the Spartans will count on depth.

San Francisco State, Cal Poly, San Diego State, Sacramento State, Long Beach State, Chico State and Humboldt State also are expected to send entries, but do not figure to raise much of a squawk in the team race.

Stanley has the best chance for a first place among the San Jose athletes. It is within the realm of possibility the Spartans could get others in the javelin, if Lynn Greene returns to top form, and in the discus should Ed Bill or Don Malinoff get off a good toss.

Golfers Seek To Revenge Lone Defeat

San Jose State's golf team will seek revenge for its only dual match defeat of the season when it takes on Stanford this afternoon at the San Jose Country Club. The two teams will tee off at 1 o'clock.

The Indians handed the Spartans a 15-12 setback in an earlier match at Stanford, but Coach Walt McPherson's lads will be favored on their familiar Country Club course.

McPherson is expected to start Eddie Durino, Jack Cummings, Charlie Leider, Jim Clark, Ernie

Seniors Evaluate Briefing Speakers

Seniors attending Senior Briefing yesterday in Morris Dailey Auditorium were given questionnaires to complete as an evaluation of the worth of the Senior Briefing class period.

Guest speakers also were evaluated by the seniors during the 50-minute period.

Dr. James F. Jacobs, Senior Class adviser, stated that the results of the test would not be known for at least a week as a result of the large number of questionnaires to be tallied. More than 400 questionnaires were completed, Dr. Jacobs added.

The seniors decided during the briefing that any surplus funds at the end of the semester would go to the Dean DeVoss Scholarship as the class gift.

The match is an important one for the Spartans, who suffered upset defeats in the CBA and NCI tournaments. A victory is needed if the team is to have a chance of raising money to go to the National Collegiate Tourney at Ohio State.

SJS Makes Plans For Housemothers' Workshop Session

Plans for a Housemothers' Workshop, designed to assist householders who operate private rooming and boarding houses for women students, were announced yesterday by Mrs. Izetta Pritchard, college housing supervisor.

The workshop sessions will be held on campus from 9 a.m. until noon — June 11 through June 14 and will close with a luncheon at noon of the last day.

Housemothers wishing to attend the workshop are to register with Mrs. Pritchard.

Representatives of the college and of the city will speak on such subjects as housing regulations, health laws, civil defense, preparation of food, menu planning, social amenities, recreation and relations between the college and householders.

Newman Club Lists New Officer Slate

Newman Club installed new officers and had a variety show on its program Wednesday, Paul Azevedo, publicity chairman, announced yesterday.

Walt Phillips was elected president, Al Deede vice president, Jean Mazzola secretary, Vivian Lazzaro treasurer, Lenore Becker historian, and Eric Grube sergeant-at-arms.

In the variety show Walt Robinson did pantomimes. A quartet composed of Louise Haydock, Jan Miller, June Bebb, and Carol Cooper sang.

Never drive a car if you are sleepy, fatigued or emotionally upset. More serious accidents occur in rural areas than in cities. Country driving calls for added caution.
